

Chart Note (2/3/2017)

Giovanna is an 8 yo female with a history of Prune Belly Syndrome, who is admitted for a fever. CLS meets pt at bedside to engage in play and normalization activities. Pt is calm and excited to play, and suggests playing with My Little Pony toys. Pt begins to display a bright and energetic affect and is fully engaged in play, when medical team arrives to perform an Echo/EKG procedure. Pt becomes distressed and refuses treatment until CLS provides option to watch a video during the procedure. CLS provides an iPad for distraction and observes pt coping well during procedure with appropriate distraction as evidenced by her ability to remain calm during the procedure. CLS remains with pt until pt is able to cope on her own and the procedure is almost complete. CLS will attempt to be available for future procedure support needs.
